

Buck 2024 ICD-10-CM for Physicians: A Comprehensive Guide

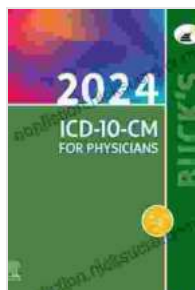

The International Classification of Diseases, 10th Revision, Clinical Modification (ICD-10-CM) is a medical classification system used to code diagnoses and procedures for billing and reimbursement purposes. The ICD-10-CM is updated annually to reflect changes in medical practice and technology. The Buck 2024 ICD-10-CM for Physicians is the latest edition of the ICD-10-CM, and it will be effective for all Medicare and Medicaid claims submitted on or after October 1, 2023.

The Buck 2024 ICD-10-CM for Physicians includes a number of new codes, revisions, and deletions. Some of the most significant changes include:

- New codes for COVID-19. The Buck 2024 ICD-10-CM includes several new codes for COVID-19, including codes for the virus itself, the symptoms of the virus, and the complications of the virus.
- Revised codes for mental health disorders. The Buck 2024 ICD-10-CM includes several revised codes for mental health disorders, including codes for depression, anxiety, and bipolar disorder.
- Deleted codes for outdated procedures. The Buck 2024 ICD-10-CM includes several deleted codes for outdated procedures, including codes for tonsillectomy and appendectomy.

The Buck 2024 ICD-10-CM for Physicians is organized into 21 chapters, each of which covers a different body system or condition. To use the ICD-

10-CM, you will need to find the chapter that corresponds to the body system or condition that you are coding for. Once you have found the correct chapter, you will need to locate the code that best describes the diagnosis or procedure that you are coding for.
